

Sir John Lawes School

Education for a changing world

To whom it may concern,

Jessie has been a student at Sir John Lawes School since September 2017 and I have known her during this time as her Head of Year. Jessie has enjoyed significant academic success and attained an Average Point Score of 8.2 at GCSE level placing her in the top 20% of the entire cohort. Jessie is on track to repeat this success at A Level and is predicted to attain 3 A grades.

As a student, Jessie is a very pleasant and focused member of the year group. Her attendance and punctuality are both excellent and she is always willing to support the school in many ways. She is actively involved in supporting extra-curricular activities that benefit the younger members of the school community which reflects her level of engagement and willingness to commit to supporting the values of the school.

Feedback from Jessie's subject teachers state that her work ethic is excellent and that she is a highly motivated and hardworking student who is extremely well organised. All deadlines are met and she adopts a very positive approach to her learning that results in a good influence on those she works with. She enjoys working with her peers but is also very effective when working as an independent learner. We would highly recommend Jessie for study at your institution.

Yours faithfully,

Dan Thompson
Assistant Head of Sixth Form
